And the Beat Goes On . . .

For four years, Cindy Timchal has been the head coach of the University of Maryland women's lacrosse team. For four years, they have played in the sports' Final Four.

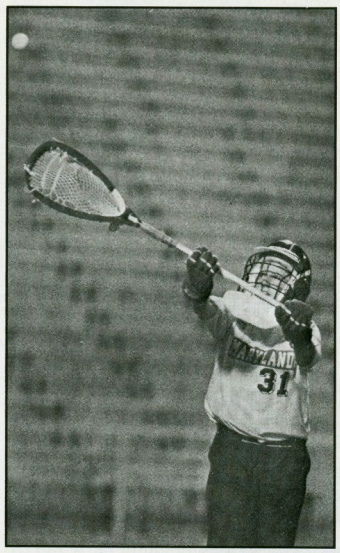
Two years might be considered a coincidence. Three years a fluke, but four for four is a mark of consistency. In her fifth year, she is faced with a new challenge. One that she has never dealt with before. She lost eight seniors, including three All Americans, to graduation.

Ask Timchal if she is worried and she will just smile and talk about her excitement at the possibilities. Her players have just become interchangeable parts of a steamrolling machine.

Two of the team's three tri-captains — senior Laura Harmon and junior Kelly Amonte — earned back-to-back All-America honors. The third, Liz Downing, comes from solid lacrosse bloodlines and has made steady improvement each year.

The team come sinto the season ranked number 2 after losing in last year's championship game to Princeton. They managed to run through their regular season schedule unscathed with a 11-0 mark. They won the national semifinal game breezing past Loyola of Maryland, 19-4.

And the beat goes on.



Goalkeeper Kristen Kruhm

Some called last year's team the greatest women's lacrosse team in history.

Her team is young, Harmon is the only senior. There are 11 juniors, 10 sophomores and six freshmen.

Although the team lost the program's all-time leading scorer in Betsy Elder (158 career goals), they return Amonte, who was an All-America almost from the time she set foot on the College Park campus. Last year, she scored 36 goals and had 27 assists. In two years, she has 130 total points. The school record for career points is Judy Dougherty's 250. At her current pace she will reach that mark sometime in her senior season.

Harmon had equally impressive numbers. She tallied 42 goals and had six assists last season. She has scored 112 goals in three years. Downing will continue to anchor the strong deny defense that has been the team's trademark. Jamie Brodsky had an impressive season in 1994. She had 90 saves, which was 62 percent of the shots on goal. Expect junior Karen MacCrate to have a breakout year as well.

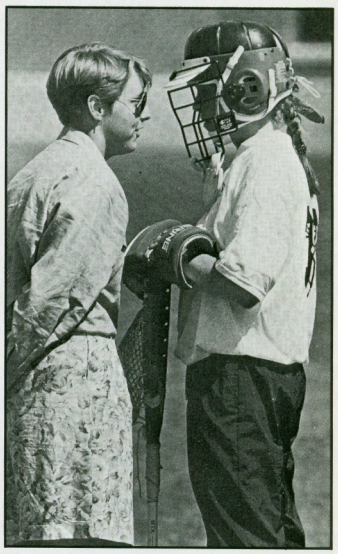
This year's team will play the uptempo brand of offense and pressure defense that has been a mark of other University of Maryland teams, mainly the men's basketball team.

Assistant coach Gary Gait, who helped define the sport in the 80s, and Timchal will continue to use innovation in their offensive tactics. Their denial, double teaming defense will greatly aid the rotation offense they have been refining almost yearly.

Trust will be a key to this year's team. Timchal said experience as a coach has taught her that it is essential to allow her players to express themselves and be creative in their decision-making. Despite their youth, Timchal maintains she will continue to trust her players' judgements.

Since the team has had many years of success, there is nothing less than high expectations for this year's squad. Timchal's tradition of success forces her to expect nothing less than the best from her players. She believes players should consistently elevate their games to the next level. They are the latest cogs in the successful steamroller.

And the beat goes on . . . tradition of excellence.



Assistant Coach Mandy Stevenson-Hudson advises goalkeeper Jamie Brodsky.

Cindy Timchal

Head Coach

Over the past four years, head women's lacrosse coach, Cindy Timchal, has taken her University of Maryland teams to all four NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Tournaments, reaching the national championship game three times. Last year, she led the Terps to an undefeated regular season record (11-0) and a national #1 ranking at the end of the season, earning the top spot in the NCAA Tournament. Maryland has been ranked first in the nation during each of her four years at College Park and begins this season picked as one of the teams who will challenge for the 1995 national title.

During her tenure at Maryland, Timchal has compiled an overall record of 52-7 (.881), sustained the incredible success of the Terps' program and worked tirelessly to take the program to even greater heights. Her teams hav not finished lower than third place nationally during her stay at College Park.

Timchal guided Maryland to the 1992 national championship and led the Terps to all the NCAA Final Fours since 1991. In her four seasons at Maryland, she has led the Terps to four wins in seven NCAA tournament games and numerous victories over nationally ranked teams.

Timchal's short but remarkable coaching tenure at Maryland can be characterized as nothing short of spectacular. She came to Maryland in 1991 following nine highly successful years at Northwestern. Despite taking over the Terps only weeks before the season opener, Timchal led Maryland to a 14-2 overall record and into the NCAA national championship game .

In 1992, Timchal directed Maryland to its third national championship. The national championship wasn't easy as the Terps had to defeat 1991 National Champion Virginia in the semifinals then turn back Harvard, the 1990 NCAA Champions, in the finals.

Timchal has accomplished nothing less than was expected of her when she took over for Dr. Suzanne Tyler, who became Maryland's Senior Associate Director of Athletics in February 1991. At Northwestern, Timchal's overall record was 76-40. She took the Wildcats to the national tournament five times.

A native of Pennsylvania, Timchal attended West Chester University, where she lettered in lacrosse, field hockey, basketball and track and field. Following her graduation in 1976, she became an assistant coach at Unionville (Pa.) High School, where she coached lacrosse, field hockey and basketball.

In 1979, she joined the collegiate ranks, as she became an assistant lacrosse and field hockey coach at the University of Pennsylvania. Following a very successful season at Penn, she became the head lacrosse coach at Northwestern.

Timchal is a member of the Intercollegiate Women's Lacrosse Association and is an active and dedicated clinician and ambassador of the sport. She oversees numerous summer camp programs up and down the east coast and in the midwest.

Gary Gait

Assistant Coach

Gary Gait, one of the most recognized personalities in the history of the sport, begins his second season as the Terps assistant coach. Gait has taught the Terps many innovative lacrosse techniques that he personally used with great success. These new skills add to the extensive stickwork repertoire that Maryland already possesses.

Gait was a four-time All-American midfielder at Syracuse University where he gained recognition as one of the greatest players the sport of lacrosse has ever known. Gait led the Orangemen to three National Championships while scoring an incredible 192 goals and assisting on 61 others for 253 total career points.

Gait is involved in every aspect of the Terrapins' program, including recruiting, on-field coaching and scheduling. This is Gait's first college coaching job.

Gait's extensive resume places him among the all-time elite lacrosse players. Among his accomplishments are:

 1988 and 1990 Division I Outstanding Player;
 1988 and 1989 Division I Outstanding Midfielder;
 1989 Division I Championship Game Outstanding Player;
 1988, 1989 and 1990 First Team All-American;
 NCAA record holder for most goals in an NCAA Tournament game (9);
 NCAA record holder for most points in an NCAA Tournament game (12);
 NCAA record holder for most goals in an NCAA Tournament (15, 1990);
 Syracuse University record for most goals in a career (192);
 Syracuse University record for most goals in one season (70)
 Member Canadian National Team, 1990, 1993.

Gait led the Orangemen to the NCAA Tournament four times during his collegiate career which spanned from 1987-1990. He led the Orange to the 1989 NCAA Championship with a thrilling 13-12 victory over North Carolina at Maryland's Byrd Stadium. He also guided Syracuse to NCAA Championships in 1988 and 1990.

Gait became nationally recognized early during his sophomore year as he scored on a "stuff shot" against Pennsylvania during the NCAA Tournament. The incredible maneuver, which saw Gait leap from behind the goal and score is considered a lacrosse first.

A native of Victoria, British Columbia, he is married to the former Nicole Black and has a daughter, Taylor, who is 18 months old. Gary's twin brother, Paul, is also considered one of the most recognized and accomplished players in the history of lacrosse. Gary currently plays lacrosse for the Philadelphia Wings of the Major Indoor Lacrosse League, who won the 1994 MILL championship title.

Mandy Stevenson-Hudson

Assistant Coach

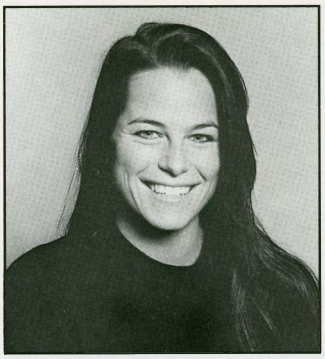
Mandy Stevenson-Hudson begins her second season as an assistant coach. The Crosswicks, NJ native will concentrate on the Terps' goalkeepers, as well as the potent defense. She earned All-America honors at Maryland and was named the National Goalkeeper of the Year in 1993. Currently a member of the U.S.

Developmental Squad, Stevenson-Hudson was a three-year starter for the Terps and served as a 1993 Terp tri-captain. As a player in 1992, she turned in one of the top performances ever by a Terp goaltender in the NCAA Championship game as she registered 19 saves, including three in overtime, to seal the Terp's come from behind victory over Harvard for the national title. Stevenson-Hudson earned her bachelor's degree in 1993 and currently teaches elementary school physical education.

Betsy Elder

Assistant Coach

Betsy Elder begins her first year as an assistant coach for the Terps after completing her lacrosse career at Maryland in 1994. In her final season as a Terp, Elder earned Academic All-America and first team All-America honors, in addition to being named Offensive Player of the Year. The Severna Park, MD native finished first on the Terp all-time career performances in goals scored, third in total points and ninth in assists. Also in 1994, Elder scored 43 goals during the season to tie for eighth place among all Terps in a season. Currently, Elder is on the U.S. Elite Women's Lacrosse Squad along with several other Maryland players, former and current. Elder will graduate in May 1995 with a degree in Kinesiological Sciences.



Patty Parichy

Assistant Coach

Patty Parichy is in her first season as an assistant coach for the Terps after completing a successful career as a Maryland defender. Parichy was a first team All-America selection last year for defense and second team All-America her junior year. A Wayne, PA native, she has one of the most memorable defensive efforts in Terp history in the 1992 NCAA Tournament. Parichy held the nation's top scorer, Jenny Slingluff, without a shot in Maryland's overtime victory over Virginia in the semifinals. Then in the final game against Harvard, she scored two goals, one of which tied the game in overtime. She also is a former member of the U.S. Women's Lacrosse Squad. As a member of ODK (Omicron Delta Kappa national honor fraternity), Parichy will graduate from Maryland in May 1995 with a degree in Kinesiological Sciences. She plans to attend Physical Therapy Graduate School in the fall.

Blatchley is presently a member of the Philadelphia Wings of the Major Indoor Lacrosse League. A graduate of Towson State University he received his Bachelor of Arts in Mass Communications. THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK

These are great days at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university, through an act of the state legislature, has been designated officially as the state's flagship campus with a mandate to become one of the nation's leading public universities. The effect of the mandate is for individuals from all corners of the university to aspire toward excellence, to think great thoughts and to become immersed in an educational enterprise of the highest caliber. There is an unmistakable momentum for change and a sense of heightened expectation at College Park — Maryland is choosing quality.

The faculty have enthusiastically endorsed a new general education program that began in the fall of 1990. It is a blueprint for comprehensive changes in the undergraduate experience at Maryland. The campus is reducing its undergraduate enrollment, improving the ratio between faculty and students, raising admissions standards, revamping the University Honors Program, strengthening the advising system, supporting expanded undergraduate research, and encouraging innovations in teaching.

A new language house has opened where student residents have direct satellite access to foreign language television broadcasts from the USSR, Latin America, Italy and Japan, and where, in a total immersion setting, they have pledged to speak their chosen language at all times. A new honors house, a stimulating living and learning center for undergraduates taking part in the University Honors Program, opened in 1992. An international house, a living-learning environment that will meet the growing needs of the diverse international population on campus, is in the works.

Our location adds to the excitement on campus, too. Few regions in the nation have the intellectual, cultural and physical resources to compare with those in the Baltimore-Washington, DC. corridor. College Park's location astride that corridor means that Maryland undergraduates may tap these resources to their fullest - through internships, research projects, cooperative work-study and other programs offering hands-on experience.

We invite you to take a closer look at the University of Maryland, its extensive academic programs, faculty, research facilities, student activities and support services and the resources and opportunities it offers. See for yourself the number of different ways in which Maryland is choosing quality. There has never been a better time to choose Maryland.

Choosing by the numbers

3 miles are all that separate a College Park student from Washington, D.C. The Washington monument is less than 10 miles away.

24 flavors of our own homemade ice cream, from our own home-grown cows, are available at the Campus Dairy in the Turner Building on Route 1 next to the Visitor Center.

25 locations on campus provide 446 PCs, plus CAD terminals and other computer-driven tools for study or research.

35 miles separate the College Park student from Baltimore and the Inner Harbor, one of the great river fronts in the world.

78 RPM (rubs per minute) is the record high for one of College Park's oldest traditions. It happens during exams, and before football games, when hopeful students give Testudo and his Byrd Stadium twin rubs for good luck.

117 undergraduate majors are available at College Park.

186 stately columns grace the Georgian architecture of our major buildings, among them 35 residence halls providing rooms, suites, or apartments for 8,000 campus residents.

325 classrooms and laboratories set the stage for learning; courses in 110 different major fields of study offer choices and specialization's for every interest.

586 student-athletes participate at the NCAA level at College Park.

$591 million was the University's operating budget in 1992-93; included was financial aid for some 21,639 students.

1589 acres of trees, malls, and quiet corners make this campus a beautiful retreat and a self-contained city. With 300 buildings, four theaters, nine restaurants, banks, shops and recreation facilities, the College Park campus is a lively and cosmopolitan community.

8,521 graduate students attended Maryland in 1992-1993.

21,799 undergraduates attended Maryland in 1992-93. Undergraduate enrollment was reduced 20% over the past five years to allow College Park to fill its role as the flagship University of the State of Maryland.

3,000,000 books, journals and magazines support students and research in College Park's library system.

4,600,000 items are on microfilm format in the campus libraries.

NEW STADIUM

Players and coaches alike are awaiting the opportunity to play in the newest addition to the University of Maryland Athletic Facilities. The new stadium is a soccer/lacrosse/track complex. The field will be ready for play in the 1995 season but the actual track will not be ready until the 1996 season.

The lacrosse complex is located off of Lot 1 next to President Kirwan's home. The stadium is replacing the old soccer field and temporary bleachers with permanent stands to seat 1500 spectators and a field that is 118 yards long by 75 yards wide. The grass this spring will be Rye and this summer it will be replaced with Bermuda, for a better playing surface.

Another addition to the stadium is a ticket booth that is located off the path as you enter the stadium complex. Ticket costs have not yet been determined for the 1995 season. The complex will also be equipped with permanent rest rooms that are located next to the bleachers on the south end.

The lacrosse complex will also be lighted for some of the scheduled evening games. We look forward to seeing at the new stadium.

Deborah A. Yow

Athletic Director

Deborah A. Yow, whose tenure as athletic director at Saint Louis University was marked by a commitment to excellence in academics and athletics for the university's student athletes, was named August 15, 1994 to direct the athletic program at the University of Maryland by President William E. Kirwan.

In commenting on the appointment, President Kirwan said, "We are very fortunate to have attracted Debbie Yow to this position. She has all the qualities we were looking for — commitment to the highest standards of academic and athletic performance, a proven record in the promotion of intercollegiate athletics, boundless energy, strong management skills and a position of national leadership on the important issues facing athletics: reform, cost containment and gender equity."

Yow 44, is the first female athletic director in the Atlantic Coast Conference and one of only 11 in NCAA Division I. She has been an athletic administrator for 11 years and was the Director of Athletics at Saint Louis University for four years. Yow began her coaching career at Burlington and Eastern Guilford High Schools in North Carolina. She went to the University of Kentucky in 1976 as the head women's basketball coach, leaving the institution in 1981 to become the head coach at Oral Roberts University. In 1983, she was appointed head coach of women's basketball at the University of Florida. She assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Florida Gator Boosters, Inc. in 1985. From 1987 to 1990, she served as associate athletic director at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

Yow earned her bachelor of arts degree in English from Elon College, a masters degree in counseling from Liberty University and a Ph.D. from Baptist Christian University.

The Gibsonville, North Carolina native is married to Dr. William W. Bowden.

Dr. Suzanne Tyler

Senior Associate Athletic Director

Dr. Suzanne Tyler is at the heart of Maryland athletics. Her 20-year association with the program has seen her serve the department in every fashion imaginable. From coach to administrator to confidant of student-athletes, Tyler envelopes herself in red and white.

Tyler's success has been extraordinary on both the athletic and academic levels. She is one of few coaches in history to win NCAA Championships in two sports — lacrosse in 1981 and 1986, and field hockey in 1987. Tyler performed double duty in 1990. While serving as the interim Director of Athletics, she led the Terps' women's lacrosse team to the national championship game. She was named National Coach of the Year in 1984 and 1986.

Tyler and her husband, Dennis Casey, reside in Beltsville, MD with their four year old son Andrew, and their two year old daughter, Alexis.

Academic Support Unit

The University of Maryland Athletic Department created the Academic Support Unit (ASU) for student-athletes. This program was developed to offer both personal and academic development to student-athletes, as well as, to pursue the ultimate goal of success both on the field and in the classroom. ASU offers a variety of programs which include:

* Personal academic assessment,
* Academic counseling and advising,
* Supervised study,
* Learning and study skill programs,
* Group and individual tutoring,
* Computer training and usage,
* Career mentoring,
* Summer internships.

Strength and Conditioning

While striving for another championship, the women's lacrosse team trains with the strength and conditioning staff. The Terps work year round applying the latest strength training innovations toward becoming the best conditioned athletes possible.

The Terps have a weight room facility in the same building as their lockerrooms. This training facility offers a full range of equipment to optimize each athletes conditioning. The team is trained by one of the Assistant Strength and Conditioning coaches that designs a program specifically for women's lacrosse.

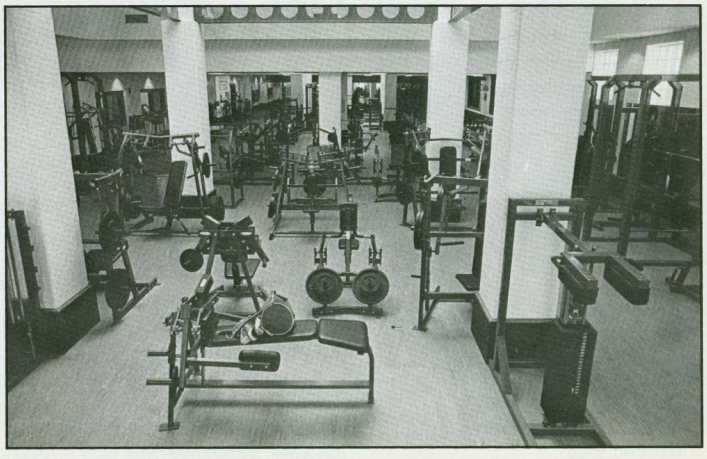
With state-of-the-art equipment at their disposal, Maryland's lacrosse team is aided in their strength work by some of the most innovative conditioning coaches in the country. Dwight Galt works with the team in their strength and conditioning training.

Galt developed a special program for the lacrosse players to increase their leg and back strength following his introduction to the sport last season.

Galt has been a member of the Maryland strength and conditioning staff for several years.

A graduate of Maryland, Galt received his Bachelor of Science degree in business and management in 1983. He earned his Master's of Science in exercise physiology from Maryland in 1989. Galt, 36, and his wife Mary Janice have four children.

Barry Kagan worked with the team this offseason. The senior outlined a plan for the players and was responsible for helpiong them with their ongoing weight training programs.



Maryland Tradition

Now in its third decade of competition, the Maryland Women's Lacrosse program has earned its place among the premire programs in the nation. In gaining that recognition, the program continues to be one of the most successful in University of Maryland's history and annually one of the successful in women's lacrosse.

Maryland played in the National Tournament for the 15th time in 1994 placing it among the nation's leaders in that category. The Terps won their third National Championship in 1992— the most ever by a Maryland team. Maryland has reached the National Tournament finals an unprecedented 11 times, including 4 of the past 5 seasons.

In terms of individual recognition, Maryland student-athletes stand as the most decorated in the history of the game. The Terps have had at least one player named All-American each year since 1980. Last year, Maryland posted 6 All-Americans, more than any other team in the nation in women's lacrosse. In 1990, Maryland had both the National Offensive and Defensive Player of the Year — Mary Ann Oelgoetz on offense and Mary Kondner on defense. The next year, 1991, Maryland's Michele Uhlfelder was the second Terp to be named the National Offensive Player of the Year. Following the 1993 season, Mandy Stevenson was named the National Goalkeeper of the Year while Kerstin Manning was named the National Defensive Player of the Year. Last year, 1994, Betsy Elder was the third Maryland player to receive the National Offensive Player of the Year honors.

Lacrosse success follows Maryland players into the international realm of women's lacrosse, one of the nation's fastest growing sports. Several former Terps participated on both the 1989 and 1993 gold medal winning World Cup Teams.

The future has never been brighter for Maryland women's lacrosse!
